Announcing New Website – and More!

By Pamela A. Lee

Mickaboo is transitioning its website to newer technology. The new website will be more easily used on devices like smartphones and tablets.

During this transition, we will be reorganizing our website to make information easier to find. Webpages central to our mission – those highlighting our birds, the adoption process, and our free bird care classes – will continue to be front and center. And we're adding new features – like a calendar showing all our public events.

Speaking of events – Pasta Pomodoro at San Jose's Camden Park will be hosting a fundraiser for Mickaboo! Pasta Pomodoro will donate 20% of the food and drink bill for Mickaboo guests attending lunch or dinner, or taking out their meals, on a specific day. Guests will need to show a special flyer to make their meal eligible. We will announce the details on our calendar – feel free to email pr@mickaboo.org if you'd like the details by email!
