Featured Volunteer – Renee Lierly

By Shauna Hill

The final member of the Mickaboo Home Visit team is Renee Lierly. This completes our spotlight on the team that keeps our home visits moving. The home visit is an important part of the Mickaboo adoption qualification process. Let's get to know Renee a little better.

SH: Tell us about yourself!

RL: I am originally from Arkansas but have lived in San Francisco for 19 years. I am a registered nurse. My hobbies are hiking, camping, boating, and cooking.

SH: What happens behind the scenes after the Mickaboo home visit has been done?

RL: The home visit team follows up on home visits to ensure the reports are complete. Then the home visit reports are sent to the species coordinators to review and submit for final adopter / foster volunteer approval.

SH: We all appreciate the hard work you folks do to keep the home visits moving along! Have you volunteered in other areas for Mickaboo? Have other experiences you want to share?

RL: I became involved after adopting some birds from Mickaboo. We adopted two cockatiels, Honey and Rhona. Rhona is the yellow one in the photo at the top of this article, adopted two years ago. Honey "Hannah" is the one in the second photo at the bottom. She too was adopted two years ago. They are both really sweet and we love them very much.

SH: Mickaboo can only continue to help the birds that need it through our awesome volunteers. Anything you would like to say to those who might be thinking about volunteering with Mickaboo?

RL: Mickaboo is a great organization and all the birds need a chance at finding a forever home.

SH: Thank you, Renee, for letting us get to know you better and for all your hard work on the home visit team.
